

PictureWindow Advertisement

2008

For Advanced 3D class: Model a fictional product that a new media designer would find useful, and design a print magazine ad for it.

Product concept was a “digital corkboard” to brighten a designer’s workspace and allow collaborative sharing of visual research. Images would be uploadable directly to the touchscreen through USB ports.

3D render of the “digital corkboard” product.

